ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This report is published by The Equal Rights Trust (ERT), in partnership with Tenaganita.

ERT and Tenaganita undertook field research during which testimony for the report was gathered. The first comprehensive draft of this report was developed by Libby Clarke (ERT) in the summer of 2011. She conducted most of the research at this stage and coordinated all work related to the report. The staff of ERT (including Amal De Chickera, Jessica Duggan-Larkin, Jim Fitzgerald and Nicola Simpson) and Tenaganita (including Glorene Das, Katrina Jorene and Liva Sreedharan) provided research assistance during the initial drafting phase. Mary Magdaline Pereira led Tenaganita’s work on the report, including by providing context, drafting the section on discrimination on grounds of political opinion, identifying sources of information, commenting on drafts and coordinating and collating comments from Malaysian experts on discrimination law. Paola Uccellari (ERT) provided advice, did additional legal research, and edited the first draft. Irene Fernandez, Director of Tenaganita, provided advice, detailed comments and oversight throughout the drafting process. Dimitrina Petrova, Executive Director of ERT, oversaw the research and drafting of the report from start to end. From February 2012 onwards, she conducted and coordinated further research, reworked the report, coordinated expert reviews, edited and authorised the report for publication. In the last two months preceding publication, completion was made possible by the assistance of ERT staff, particularly Richard Wingfield who conducted additional legal research and redrafted the sections on enforcement and implementation.

ERT and Tenaganita are very grateful to Andrew Khoo for providing initial drafts of the Legal and Policy Frameworks section of the report. His assistance with identifying relevant legal sources was invaluable. Thanks go to members of the Malaysian Equality Forum, especially members of the project’s “core team” from EMPOWER, the Malaysian Bar Council and Sisters in Islam, for their insight and analysis in reviewing early drafts of the report, providing sources of information, and supporting the aims and objectives of the project. Particular thanks are due to Maria Chin Abdullah, Mila Noordin, Janarthani Arumugam, Helen Chin, V.K. Raj, Niloh Asoh, Angela Kuga Thas and Thilaga Sulathireh. All individuals and organisations who responded to queries, provided information and advice and met with ERT and Tenaganita are also thanked.

ERT and Tenaganita are grateful to interns and volunteers who undertook desk-based research and analysis. Particular thanks are due to Gonçalo Moreira and Juliette Herbelin who carried out the initial desk research for the report in its earliest stages. Thanks also go to ERT interns and volunteers Vanessa Long and Isidora Stakić who assisted in the latter stages of the drafting process. Assistance provided by Jenny Lor, intern from Tenaganita, in collating feedback from the CSO consultation on the draft report is greatly appreciated. Thank you also to ERT interns and volunteers Sarah Hutnik, Vania Kaneva, Lee Yin Ng, Kate Nickle and Leonid Raihman who performed meticulous fact-checking and verification during the later stages of drafting and editing.

As always, very special thanks go to our volunteer Dafina Gueorguieva who designed the cover and did the layout of the report.

This report is the outcome of a partnership between ERT and Tenaganita on a joint project entitled “Empowering Civil Society to Combat Discrimination through Collective Advocacy and Litigation” funded by the European Union. The partners are very grateful for the support provided for this project. However, the contents of this publication are the sole responsibility of ERT and Tenaganita and can in no way be taken to reflect the views of the European Union.

Finally, we wish to thank all persons who shared their stories with us. This report is dedicated to them and all other persons in Malaysia who have suffered – and those who continue to suffer – discrimination and exclusion.
